/There are six components of two moieties which the author refers to as "plaza groups". The moieties are classified under category 616, but the individually functioning components are not separately categorized. If one accepts Nimuendaju's (p. 90) reconstruction of their original function, they represent former localized sibs. Nimuendaju does not identify the plaza groups of the Tepyarkwa festival (pp. 225-230) with those that perform during the initiation ceremonies (pp. 87-90)./
